Excerpt: .of sale should be sufficient for the purpose; and he would receive from the trustee the whole of the proceeds, if they should not be sufficient to pay him in full. The question here does not concern his debt. It is not sought to interfere with the appropriation of the entire property to the payment of it; nor is it sought to prevent the mortgagee from proceeding against any other property of the insolvent, if he should elect to do so. The question simply is whether the trustee in insolvency is to administer his trust by selling the mortgaged property; or whether the attorney named in the mortgage is the proper party to make sale. This must be determined by the requirements of the insolvent law, unless they are contrary to some constitutional provision. It is the duty of the trustee to make sale of all the property of the insolvent, and to pay off all liens and incumbrances thereon, and he is not subject to the interference of sheriffs, mortgagees or other persons. Zeigler vs. King, 9 Md., 330. This is the remedy for the lien creditors of an insolvent, established by the statute law. It is undoubtedly within the province of the Legislature to provide the manner in which debts shall be collected. The mode of cutting off the equitable interest provided by Article 64 of the Code, exists merely because the Legislature has so determined. It is competent for the Legislature to repeal that..
